- Attributes of boundary_polygon: A table with the following data:

STATE	COUNTY	NAME	LSAD	LSAD_TRANS	FieldName
01	077	Lauderdale	06	County	Hello
01	083	Limestone	06	County	Hello Fantastic World!
01	089	Madison	06	County	Hello Fantastic World!
- Field Calculator: A dialog box for performing calculations on fields. The 'Fields' list includes: FID, Shape, AREA, PERIMETER, BOUNDARY_, BOUNDARY_I, STATE, COUNTY, NAME, LSAD, LSAD_TRANS, and FieldName. The 'Type' is set to 'String'. The 'Functions' list includes: Asc (), Chr (), Format (), InStr (), LCase (), Left (), Len (), LTrim (), and Mid (). The expression entered in the 'Field Name =' field is: `Left([FieldName], 5)`. The 'Advanced' checkbox is unchecked. At the bottom, the 'Calculate selected records only' checkbox is checked.
